—V—

Pfc. HARRY AVILLA is now Corporal Avilla, according to word received this week by his mother. "Keep the letters coming, Mom," he writes. Cpl. TOMMY CHAMPION, whose engagement to a young British lass was announced a short time ago, writes to his mother that he and his fiancee are now "disengaged." The young lady, Miss Gwendolyn Hansen, has parents, it seems, who thought that the couple were too young. "Tommy" is still in England.

JACK REES IS NEW PRESIDENT OF A.C.T.C.

Jack Rees, director of research in the office of the County Superintendent of Schools of Alameda county, was elected president of the Alameda County Teachers' Association at a directors' meeting on October 11. Rees was formerly vice-principal of Washington Union High School at Centerville.

Also elected for the 1944-45 term were: vice-president, Mrs. Helen Silver, a teacher at Hayward Union High School; secretary, O. B. Paulsen, district superintendent of Hayward High School; and treasurer, Mrs. Louise Mason, a teacher in Castro Valley Elementary School.

According to President Jack Rees, the membership drive now under way will continue until December in order to enlist the full support of teachers from the 39 school districts of Alameda county outside of the six cities of Berkeley, Albany, Alameda, Piedmont, San Leandro and Oakland. The membership of the A.C.T.A. last year was approximately 400. Plans were laid at the directors' meeting to increase the membership this year, which Rees termed a critical one for the schools of California.

In addition to making plans for an active campaign in favor of Proposition No. 9 on the November ballot, the A.C.T.A. appropriated $100 to the campaign fund.

PRICE PANEL GIVEN MORE POWER, SAYS GEORGE A. COIT

Responsibility of the price panel of the local War Price and Rationing Board to negotiate with retailers for voluntary settlement involving payments to the United States Treasury or to customers in cases of overcharges was emphasized yetserday by George A. Coit, price panel chairman of the OPA board.

Effective immediately under the new Congressional provision broadening the powers of the price panels and localizing their efforts, negotiations may be conducted which can result in payments varying from the actual overcharge to settlements for three times the overcharge, or $50, whichever is the greater, he announced.

"Congress has clearly indicated that the problems of inflationary pricing need solution at local levels. The negotiating authority now vested in the price panels serves as a protection to both retailers and consumers, and permits an avoidance of court action.

This new authority now gives price panels a means of stepping into cases of minor violations at retail and working with the retailer on a settlement that will make court action unnecessary, and at the same time develop better compliance for the future, the chairman said.

Steps in Negotiation

Principal steps and provisions in the negotiating program are as follows:

1. In extending the price control act, Congress gave the administrator authority to sue a retailer in cases of overcharge, if the customer did not sue within 30 days.

2. To make court action unnecessary in minor violations, the administrator has now directed price panels to act for him in negotiating with retailers for an agreed settlement, providing a return of the overcharges and in some cases the payment of a small settlement to the treasury.

3. In cases of unintentional violations the price panels may, if they believe the circumstances warrant, close the case with an agreement from the retailer to comply in future sales. In more serious cases, the price panel may request settlement at amounts up to three times the overcharge or $50, whichever is greater.

4. If the Price Panel finds that records were falsified, payments were made on the side, or the violations were repeated after a warning from OPA, th Price Panel is to send the cases directly to the district office for handling.

5. If the overcharged customers can be identified, the money is to be returned to them. If they cannot be identified, the payment is to the United States Treasury. In no case will OPA obtain a refund for the customer in excess of the overcharge to him. If the customer wishes to sue for treble damages, he must do so before

FARM BUREAU HEARS NEW AREA REPRESENTATIVE SPEAK ON PLANS

"Years of hardship have demonstrated that farmers—working as individuals — cannot solve their marketing and other 'off-the-farm' problems," said Walter Baum, area representative for the Farm Bureau, when he spoke at the local bureau meeting at Washington Union High School Tuesday evening.

"These problems can be solved, however, by group action. The Farm Bureau is the machine through which individual farmers may study their problems, determine their needs, pool their strength, exert influence, and win public support."

The position of area representative is a new one in the Farm Bureau. Eight of these representatives have been appointed to work closely with sectional groups. Baum serves eight counties from Alameda to Santa Barbara.

He explained that his duties will be to aid in building membership, to help organize new Farm Commodity Centers, to establish service activities, to assist regional directors, to gather information helpful to marketing and research, to co-operate with government agencies, and to service Farm Bureau commercial enterprises such as the Petroleum Service and Workmen's Compensation Insurance.

Enlarged activity of the Farm Bureau, explained Baum, has necessitated increasing dues to $10 per year. Of this amount, $5 goes to the State Federation, $1 of this for support of area representatives and $1 for commodity department work and the balance for general activities. Everything above this $5 is for county activities.

Baum stated that farmers are approaching a critical period that they can best face only with a united front. For one thing, farm production at present is 133 per cent of normal. Return to normal will bring a new set of problems.

After the war there will be the problem of disposing of farm surpluses. Peace-time demand for food from this country by liberated countries will not be so large as expected. Improper handling of the surplus disposal problem could seriously affect the American farmer.

Another point needing united action of farmers, said Baum, is the matter of setting prices and cutting down waste of crops. The farmer, he believes, should know his prices before planting and not, as has happened too often, only when the crop is ready to harvest. And the farmer should have more to say about culling of his products.

Baum looks toward greater membership and strength of the Farm Bureau with its increased activities. Whereas present membership in the state is 32,000, he expects it soon to reach 50,000.

Under the new plan of organizatio nfarmers will have quicker action on their grievances and better public relations. He urged a strong farmer vote in the coming election to impress legislators with farmer strength.

WEEK-DAY CHURCH SCHOOL HAS $129 IN TREASURY

With the addition of $75 contributed this week by the Full Gospel Temple, the Niles Week-day Religious School now has $129 in its treasury. This, however, falls more than $100 short of the quota necessary to keep the Religious School in operation.

Money is needed not only to pay the salary of the teacher, Mrs. Mary Gerdine, but to buy supplies and books for the children. It is hoped that the parents of children who are enrolled in the class will make up the deficit by contributing towards the fund, no matter how small are their contributions.

Anyone else who is anxious to see the success of the Religious School also may contribute.

In donating the $75, Rev. Fred Hahn of the Full Gospel Temple stated:

"The Week-day Religious School is a fine thing. It reaches those who, for some reason or other, don't get the advantage of Sunday School training. It is a co-operative method of religious training that should bring the unanimous support of the community."

Those who have contributed are: D. Q. Grabill, Mrs. Catherine Parry, Mrs. Florence Shinn, Mrs. W. F. Lamoreux, Mrs. Paul Offel, Mrs. L. R. Batman, Mrs. R. E. Clifford, Mrs. Fred Duffie and the Full Gospel Temple.

S. F. QUESTIONS SOLDIERS ON PLANS

Action taken this week by San Francisco, and similar moves planned by communities in Northern and Central California, will underscore the eagerness with which the home folks await the return of members of the armed forces.

San Francisco is mailing a letter shortly to every one of her sons and daughters in the armed forces in this country and overseas. This letter, in brief, will seek to find out, in specific detail what each man and woman plans to do when discharged from the service.

This information will become the basis for plans by the city to see that these veterans have jobs with their former employers, in their own businesses, or in new fields where war-won skills will be of peace-time value.

NILES BUSINESS BUILDING IS SOLD

The Connor Building, Main Street, Niles, was sold this week to Jack Alberg. The building, comprising the Columbia Grill, the Peerless Stage Depot, and the Niles Recreation Center, was formerly owned by Mrs. Victoria Bellini. The deal was handled through the Ellsworth Company.

Mr. Alberg says that he has no plans for any changes to be made at present.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH BURNS MORTGAGE

At the annual meeting of the Niles Congregational Church, held last Thursday, the church mortgage was burned. The mortgage was incurred five years ago when the modern plant replaced the old church destroyed by fire in 1938.

During the evening, Mrs. Florence Mayhew Shinn read a history of the church which she had compiled. The present church building was dedicated at an Easter service in 1939, contributions having been made by people of all creeds.

The $71 in the "debt fund" was voted to be used as the starting of a new fund for a recreation hall to be built after the war, a project suggested by the pastor, Rev. D. A. Grabill.

New officers elected at the meeting are: clerk, Mrs. Nellie Shinn; two new trustees, Dan Marble and A. B. Leask; deacons, J. C. Shinn and Charles Middleton; deaconesses, Mrs. Catherine Parry, Mrs. Grady Denton and Mrs. Dan Marble; Sunday School Superintendent, George Sladek; music committee, Mrs. W. H. Ford, Mrs. A. E. Ellsworth, Mrs. Fred Duffie and Mrs. Bunting.

LAST RITES HELD FOR MRS. HAYES

Last rites for Mrs. Lola Hayes, a former resident of Centerville, were held Monday at 2 o'clock from the Chapel of the Palms. The Episcopal service was read by the Rev. T. Cecil Harris of Hayward. Interment was at the family burial plot in the I.O.O.F. Cemetery at Irvington.

The passing of Mrs. Hayes came suddenly on October 11 at her Long Beach, where she had resided since leaving Centerville four years ago. She was born in Cleveland, Ohio, 63 years ago.

A WHOLE MEAL FOR ONLY TEN CENTS

AND YOU DON'T PAY EXTRA FOR DESSERT!

A whole plate lunch, including milk and dessert, for 10 cents! That is what your child can get, or is getting, if he goes to the Irvington Grammar School. If he goes to the Centerville Grammar School, the price is slightly higher, 13 cents.

We visited the cafeteria at the Centerville School the other day after getting the approval of Principal Tom Maloney. It was heartening to see the relish with which the children sat down to their long shining tables and happily consumed their lunch. There is no fussing, no "but I'd rather have this," no picking and choosing—because all the children get the same lunch.

The lunch this day was mashed potatoes (fluffy as you'd make them at home), creamed hamburger, string beans, bread and butter sandwich, canned peaches, and a half pint of milk. As well-balanced and tasty a lunch as you could ever hope for. It was good! We know, because we were fortunate enough to taste it.

How, you may ask, can such a big lunch be served for only 13 cents? Well, it is simply a matter of taking advantage of the War Food Administration School Lunch Program.

Congress has determined that the school lunch program shall be operated as a part of the nation's war-time food program. Contrary to the belief of some, it is a non-political program sponsored by the government to improve the nutrition of children by reimbursing the sponsor of the program, usually the school board, for part of the cost of food for lunches served at school. Centerville, for instance, received $2500 from the federal government last year for school lunches.

The government operates this program on the theory that a healthy child is a happy child. Unfortunately not all children are getting enough of the foods they need. Sometimes it's because there just isn't enough money to buy the food. Sometimes it's because a working mother doesn't have time or isn't home to prepare regular meals. Sometimes it's because the person in the home who prepares the meals doesn't know what foods a growing child needs. Whatever the reason may be, the school lunch is a systematic means of providing one-third to one-half

HUSKERS DEFEAT SANTA CLARA

Meeting a formidable foe in the form of the Santa Clara football team, the Washington Huskers last Friday piled up a 13-0 victory.

They now boast an undefeated and unscored-upon record. The offense really clicked in Friday's game; both blocking and tackling were outstanding and the tackling was really beautiful. Santa Clara never got inside the Washington 45-yard line.

Sparkplug in the game was 115-pound Harold Rogers, left half, whose deceptive running made the lion's share of the Husker yardage. Every player turned in a fine performance and the spirit and cooperation of the boys is evidenced by the score.

Next Friday the Huskers will play a strong Mountain View team. Despite a 13-12 loss to Palo Alto last Friday as well as two other lost games, Mountain View is always one of the strongest teams in the league. Except for two injuries, a charley horse and a sprained knee, the Washington team is in perfect physical condition.

The game will be played at 8 o'clock tonight at Mountain View.

FILM DESTROYED IN TRUCK FIRE

A truck loaded with motion picture film and morning newspapers overturned in Niles Canyon early Tuesday morning, caught fire and burned with a loss estimated at $40,000.

The driver, Max Magee, 26, of San Francisco, crawled out of the wreckage uninjured and managed to save eight cans of the film before flames drove him away.

He said he was going through the canyon, distributing film for all of Southern Alameda County, and the newspapers, when the front axle of the truck broke when he rounded a curve leading onto an overpass.

The broken axle threw the truck on its side and it caught fire. Fifty-four cans of films were destroyed. The truck belonged to Gilboy Film Distributors of San Francisco.

The project for the year is to continue raising money for a projector through the membership drive.

Mrs. Calhoun presented her chairmen, and the program and budget was accepted by the unit as submitted by the committees.

Mr. Roberts, social study teacher of the high school and speaker of the evening, chose as his interesting subject "Intelligent Voting."

Principal Goold spoke on Propositions 9 and 11. He advised voting Yes on No. 9 and No on No. 11. The night school is open for enrollment and Warren Gravestock suggested many courses to persons wishing to attend.

After the business meeting, the members enjoyed a social hour. Delicious cake and coffee were served by the ladies of the board.

SAN JOSE STATE COLLEGE HEAD ADDRESSES ROTARY

San Jose State College will grow into one of the leading semi-professional and teachers training institutions in the West after the war's end, stated Dr. McQuarrie, president of the institution, at the luncheon meeting of the Niles Rotary Club at the Florence Restaurant this week.

How to make cabbage interesting, delicious

OF COURSE, "corned beef and . . " is one way to serve cabbage, and a good way it is, too. But it's far from being the only way! For instance, this is delicious:

SCALLOPED APPLES AND CABBAGE

Slice 5 medium-size cooking apples and combine with 2 tbsps. sugar. Finely shred 1 medium-size head of cabbage; season with 2 tsps. salt, 1 tbsp. vinegar, and 4 tbsps. bacon drippings. Arrange alternate layers of sliced apples and shredded cabbage in well-greased baking dish or casserole, beginning with cabbage and ending with apples. Top with ½-cup fine dry bread crumbs; dot with 2 tbsps. butter or margarine, cover. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 30 minutes or until done. Remove cover; continue baking at same temperature about 10 minutes, or until crumbs are brown. Serves 6.

Mexican Slaw—To shredded cabbage, add tomatoes cut in wedges, and diced green peppers, and toss with a little sugar, vinegar, and salt to taste.

Slaw au Gratin—Toss shredded cabbage with a little sugar, vinegar, and salt. Pour enough evaporated milk over to make desired amount of dressing, and sprinkle with grated cheese.

Catalina Slaw—Shred cabbage, add generous amount of salted peanuts and cut-up peeled wedges of orange or grapefruit. Toss with little sugar, vinegar, and salt to taste.

In Pursuit of Bargains

Wednesday we witnessed an interesting bit of drama in Hayward, and it set us to thinking.

We were calling at the Montgomery Ward store for some advertising copy announcing a sale. Women were waiting in front of the locked doors for the opening hour. But newspaper men have a way of getting over or under or around closed doors—so we went inside.

In a moment the doors swung open and in rushed the crowd, bargain-hungry housewives. We looked up to the mezzanine floor and there stood Store Manager P. S. Wolf and his assistants.

They were proud impressarios. They had set the stage for the great American drama —bargain hunting—and now the curtain was rising.

Here is what we got to thinking: With merchandise scarce and with people willing and anxious to pay ceiling prices, why should any store reduce prices? Why put on a pre-war style of sale? The stuff would move easily enough at regular prices, wouldn't it?

This particular sale is called Ward Week, and is traditional with Montgomery Ward. It's a matter of custom with the firm. It's something planned toward and worked for. And it's a service to the public.

But couldn't it be dispensed with for the duration?

American business, to its great credit, has not taken to this phase "dispense with," even during this war.

Before the war you took it for granted that you could walk into any restaurant or newsstand or drug store and name your brand of cigarettes and get it. It would have struck you as being odd if you couldn't. That's how you came to depend on your American merchant: he always had what you wanted.

Today he probably hasn't just what you want, but he's doing everything in his power to get it for you. Occasionally he'll even get it and give you an old-fashioned treat—a sale!

In Centerville not long ago we were drawing up an ad with Jack Holland. He put down tuna at a below-ceiling price. What housewife wouldn't grab a can of tuna at the regular price? So why make a better bargain of an item like this?

The answer to this is that a good merchant in peace-time can't keep from being a good merchant in war-time. Buying and selling is a fascinating, exciting game for both seller and buyer. We have a nice way of playing this game in America. It's as American as the game of poker, and fairer all around.

You might say, however, that this as only good business. Certainly it is good business.

And it's also just plain good.

Hit 'em Again

Every dollar given to the War Chest slaps the Nazi war terror through allied relief agencies, boosts fighting men's morale through USO, United Seamen's Service and War Prisoners Aid, and bolsters civilian causes through local welfare agencies. October 9 through November 11 is the time to whack the enemy by giving your share to reach the $20,000,000 California War Chest goal.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

Throughout America, there is a dangerous surplus of beef on the range—but an acute shortage of beef in the meat markets!

No longer can that ironic paradox be kept from the American people, for the facts of the situation are undeniable, no matter how hard the OPA and other government agencies may strive to obscure them.

Not only are the American people being denied meat they would like to eat (a circumstance which might be excused on the ground of war-time emergency), but the livestock industry, which has gone all-out to increase production and aid the cause of the Allied Nations, is threatened with bankruptcy and total destruction during the post-war period unless the responsible authorities in Washington wake up to the fact that it is high time that meat rationing should end.

The California Cattlemen's Association, through Dan McKinney, its secretary, has wired Food Administrator Marvin Jones and Stabilization Director Fred Wilson of the facts in the case, but as yet there has been no indication from Washington that the government is prepared to take any action to correct an impossible and inexcusable condition.

The Cattlemen's Association, realizing that livestock men are hard-pressed to feed the cattle on the range, and are tremendously concerned over what will happen when the war ends—when market demands slump—has asked two things: First, the removal, or drastic slashing, of all beef ration points. Second, the assigning of more manpower to packing plants to help move some 10,000,000 excess cattle of the ranges.

But as yet, the paradox still continues. Livestock men are haunted by the surplus of beef on the range —aggravated by a shortage of feed —while housewives continue to come home from the butcher shop without the meat their families need, and might just as well have.

Livestock men are not alarmists, but they remember well that in 1921, after World War I, the livestock industry was prostrated by a crash that wiped out almost everyone in the industry. They are trying to escape such a debacle after World War II—and it would seem that the government, with the object lesson of World War 1 before it, would be aware of the danger, too.

One of the basic shortcomings of a "controlled economy," however, is that the persons in control—the swivel-chair administrators in Washington and elsewhere — are neither familiar nor sympathetic with the problems of the producer.

In the long run, of course, the consumer suffers with the rest, because a calamity to agriculture is soon reflected in a similar calamity to urban wage-earners. The last depression started, years before it was evident in the cities, in America's rural areas, but when it finally caught up with the Nation, the whole country paid the penalty for its failure to see the handwriting on the wall.

Rationing, admittedly, may have been a war-born necessity, at least so far as many commodities were concerned, but in this writer's opinion that necessity has long ceased to exist, in the majority of cases, and the sooner the American people demand a return to normal processes, the sooner will this country be prepared to cope with the urgent problems of the post-war era.

Winning the peace isn't just a question of learning a formula which will permit us to live in peace with our neighbors, important though that may be. Winning the peace—for America—means winning the war against depression and unemployment. And to do that, we have to employ common sense methods, observe natural laws—and enable our people to work out their own salvation.

A public card party will be given at the Parish House, Niles, tonight (Friday).

Mrs. E. D. Bristow, as chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. A. W. Alves and Mrs. Mary Regan.

SPORTSWOMEN TO HAVE HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Prizes for the best costumes will be awarded at the Hallowe'en Party to be given next Wednesday, October 25, by the Newark Sportswoman's Club to be held at the Butler Hotel in Newark.

The affair, a pot-luck supper, is being managed by Mrs. Joseph Gastelum.

Albert Harvey, 29, of Niles, lost his wallet Saturday night in a scuffle in the Peerless Restaurant, he told sheriffs early Sunday morning. His wallet contained $60, his draft card and his driver's license. He could name no suspects.

CORPUS CHRISTI TO HOLD CHURCH BAZAAR

Corpus Christi Church of Niles will hold a bazaar at Odd Fellows Hall on October 27 and 28.

Those in charge of the different booths are as follows: St. Joseph's booth, Mrs. Fred Dias, assisted by Mrs. L. A. Mayer and Mrs. Ruel Brown; Little Flower booth, Mrs. Flora Silva, assisted by Mrs. Romeo Brunelli and Mrs. J. O'Connor; St. Anthony's booth, Mrs. Rose Vieux, assisted by Mrs. William Dutra, Mrs. J. Garner and Mrs. J. Geib; Fish Pond, Mrs. Ray Joliff, Miss Katherine Sullivan and Mr. and Mrs. John Turner; Our Lady of Guadalupe will be in charge of all the Spanish families of the parish.

NO MOBILE UNIT BUT YOU MAY STILL GIVE YOUR BLOOD

Although the Mobile Blood Unit will no longer continue to make visits to the township for blood procurement, having been recently made available to areas where there has so far been no blood procurement at all, those in the township who still wish to give blood may do so.

This good news comes from Mrs. W. L. McWhirter, Township Chairman of the Blood Donor Service. Arrangements are being made, according to Mrs. McWhirter, to transport different groups to headquarters at Oakland from different parts of the township every Friday, starting the first Friday in November.

Though plans are still in the formulative stage, it is assumed that one week the station wagon will pick up a group in Niles, the next week in Mission San Jose, and so on, with all the towns in the township being given a chance to take advantage of the service.

Have the Communists Quit?

Don't You Believe It!

True, there isn't any Communist "party" ticket on the ballot, but those Communists are smart. They've simply moved into the ranks of their friends, the New Dealers! Earl Browder, former Communist candidate for President (and ex-convict, pardoned by Roosevelt), is supporting the New Deal. And "clear everything with Sidney" Hillman, an admitted Communist, is not only supporting the New Deal, but is helping direct the campaign.

A Vote for the New Deal Is a Vote for Communism and for notorious city "bosses"

Our party has betrayed us. Beware of the power behind the throne—Sidney Hillman and his cohorts to whom Roosevelt is so very indispensable. A vote for Roosevelt is a vote for policies more and more communistic and opposed to American Democracy. It's a vote for such city "bosses" as Hague of Jersey City, Kelly of Chicago, and for the remnants of the Pendergast machine of Kansas City. A vote for the New Deal is a vote for the destruction of American liberties.

Dewey Will Save Democracy

Yes We Mean It!

We know Dewey by his record. Roosevelt, as Governor of the state, put New York deeply into debt (as he has the nation, even before the war). Dewey has pulled New York state out of debt. Dewey has never made alliances with city gangsters; he has never made alliances with communistic forces. Now he is promising what he knows (and we know) he can perform . . . to restore American liberties and American democracy.

"UNQUOTE

DEWEY-BRICKER NORTHERN CALIFORNIA COMMITTEE

What Shall We Have For Dinner ?

Does your head ache from that terrible "oh, what'll I have for dinner?" feeling. Are you run down at the heels from standing in line at the butcher's or grocer's, waiting for that pound of butter or that bacon, the flavor of which you have almost forgotten? Do you have five o'clock panic every night because your cupboard is bare, and in one hour you must scare up something for dinner?

Well, if you have experienced these feelings—and who hasn't—read how your neighbors are meeting, and beating, the food-shortage problem.

Take meat, for instance. Sometimes you can get the kind of meat you want, and sometimes you can't. If you can't, it's probably because you have run out of points, or the meat simply isn't there. In that case you'll rack your brain trying to figure out a meat substitute dish.

One of the best recipes for a one-dish, low-point meal that we know—full of nutrition and appetite appeal—is that contributed by Mrs. Roland Bendel of Niles. Mrs. Bendel is the wife of the Township Foreman of Alameda County Mosquito Abatement. She has a daughter, Winifred, who is secretary at Kraftile, and a son, Ronald Bendel Jr., who is at Annapolis. They are all proud of the fact that "mother put up 600 jars of fruit and vegetables this season." You see, Mrs. Bendel is township chairman of food preservation under the Agricultural Extension division of the University of California Agricultural Department. She is also Agricultural chairman of the Alameda District Federation of Women's Clubs.

It is no wonder then that we sit up and take notice when Mrs. Bendel gives us a recipe which she thinks is "tops."

Here it is. It is called "Lentils Western." Mrs. Bendel, incidentally, raises her lentels in her own garden. They are harvested just as dried beans are harvested, and are about as easy to grow.

To serve four, soak 1 cup of lentils overnight in water to cover. The next morning, boil lentils for three to four hours, with ham bone or bacon rind (if you can find the bacon rind!) When two-thirds done, add one small can of tomatoes, or two or three fresh ones, one small dried onion, and one stalk of celery. Salt and pepper to taste.

Then add four small whole potatoes. (Don't think you are getting too much starch. The potatoes are the only starch in the dish, as the lentils are almost pure protein.)

Cook one hour longer, adding more water if necessary but being careful that the dish is not soupy.

Ten minutes before serving, add four diced frankfurters. (This is in case you feel you must have a little meat). It also adds flavor.

If you like your foods with a little more zest, you can, at some time during the cooking, add a little Tabasco or Worcestershire sauce.

With this, Mrs. Bendel serves a green salad and a light dessert, such as a fruit sherbet and cookies.

So there you are—a dish that is delicious, that has that "sticks to the ribs" quality, and that is easy on the pocketbook and on your points.

The Eighth Grade is going to give the Seventh Grade a Hallowe'en party. Committees for refreshments and decorating have been appointed by Miss Bunker.

Two members of the Eighth Grade have just reached their thirteenth birthdays, Martha Grimmer on Sunday and Audrey Vargas on Monday.

It was reported by an Eighth Grade member that Lionel Goularte of the Navy was home on leave and left Tuesday for camp again. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Goularte of Warm Springs.

Mr. E. D. Bristow, principal, and Miss C. Bunker, vice-principal, attended a principals meeting at the Hayward High School last Tuesday.

Harold Schoenfeld, director of physical education for Alameda County schools, visited the Niles School last week.

ALVARADO

Betty Ann Jacinton

The school enrollment has grown so much that the County Board of Education gave Mr. Vaughn Seidel, our county school superintendent, the right to grant our school sufficient money from the county emergency fund to enable our principal and our school board of trustees ot hire two more teachers, Mrs. Pearl Petersen for the second grade and Mrs. Laverne Stivers Dickerson for the third grade.

Our principal is Mr. Leslie Maffey. The members of the school board of trustees are: Mr. Manuel P. Goularte, clerk, Mr. George Hocking and Mr. Manuel Perry. Mr. Perry was appointed by Mr. Seidel to take the place on the school board of his father-in-law, Mr. Frank Machado whose recent loss has been keenly felt by the school district.

Mrs. Lucille Wilson, the Junior Red Cross director, came to our school last Friday to talk to us about joining the Junior Red Cross and the work that we can do to help the members of the armed forces that are in the hospitals.

We now have a fully organized student body. The following students were elected to office: President, Delores, Sa; vice-president, Dolores Santos; treasurer, Clarabelle Silva; secretary, Leonard Dutra; reporter, Betty Ann Jacinto; athletic monitor, Vernon Machado. Student Body Council representatives: 8th grade, Joelle O'Neil; 7th grade, Henry Andrade; 6th grade, Gilbert Cicairos; 5th grade, Vernon Perry; 4th grade, Dan Scott.

The very first business transacted by the new president was to appoint a committee to take charge of the annual paper drive. Vernon Machado was appointed chairman of the committee. Prizes will be given to the room getting the best average amount of waste paper per student, and for the first, second and third largest amounts brought in by individual students. The drive will end on Friday, October 30, 1944.

GIRLS' CLUB NEWS

As you already know, we have two baseball teams, the "Smackers" with Clarabelle Silva as captain and the "Whackers" with Frances Roderick as captain. The Smackers have won both of the play off games by scores of 13-4 and 21-20. The Wackers were ahead in the first half of the ninth inning. The Smackers came up and got six runs, making the score 21-20. Members of Clarabelle's Smackers are: Clarabelle Silva, captain; Delores Sa, Joelle O'Neil, Georgia Davis, Betty Jacinto, Marie Jardin, Elizabeth Flores, Oliva Aranda, Lucita Perez, Bertha Prado and Juanita Villegas.

Members of Frances' losing team are: Frances Roderick, captain; Dolores Santos, Geraldine Warren, Consuelo Saucedo, Madelyn Hernandez, Selina Rigmaiden, Nettie Lemas, Carol Hocking, Phyllis Faria, Ernestine Ybarra, Evelyn Muela and Dora Ramirez.

The losers must now chip in and give the winners a party. We are glad to say that the Whackers have been good sports even though they did lose. The sides are very evenly matched and this makes the games very interesting.

Why PROPOSITION No. 12 MUST BE DEFEATED

A STATEMENT by Alfred J. Lundberg, President of the Key System, Past President, California State Chamber of Commerce and Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

WHEN I accepted the Chairmanship of the East Bay Citizens' Committee against Proposition No. 12, I did so because I believe the whole community—our whole state—has a vital stake in seeing this measure snowed under.

Its proponents are trying to make No. 12 a party issue and a capital vs. labor issue. It is neither. I am a Republican and so are thousands of others who are against it. I employ 2,500 people and almost every other employer I know shares my view that this measure must not pass.

As I see it, Proposition No. 12 is a measure put forward by a group of employers who would like to freeze their particular ideas of labor relations into our State Constitution—regardless of consequences.

Seemingly, they forget we still have ships and planes to build and a war to win. We haven't the time to fight on two fronts. For you may be sure that endless lawsuits and arguments would inevitably follow the complete destruction of our labor relations structure, as called for by Proposition No. 12!

Whether you are an employer or an employee, a Republican or a Democrat, a union member or a union-hater—as a citizen we call on you to vote No! on Proposition No. 12. By so doing we can keep all the fighting out on the fighting fronts until the war is won.

SCHOOL LUNCH

of the child's daily nutritive needs 20 to 22 times a month.

The rate of reimbursement is based on the cost of the food used in specified lunches. In no instance can the rate of reimbursement exceed the cost of food purchased and used.

The maximum reimbursement is 9 cents (for the type A lunch). This is the complete lunch, sufficient to provide one-third to one-half of the child's daily requirements. This type of meal contains at least these five "musts."

1. One-half pint of whole milk.
2. Two ounces of meat, poultry, cheese, or fish, or one egg, or one-half cup of dry peas, beans or soy beans, or four tablespoons of peanut butter.
3. Three-fourths of a cup of vegetables and/or fruit.
4. One or more slices of bread or muffins or other bread made of whole-grain cereal or enriched flour.
5. Two teaspoons of butter or fortified oleomargarine.

Mrs. Rogers, who manages the cafeteria at the Centerville School states that children are encouraged to eat all the food on their plates. If it is seen that the child is getting too much, the portions are cut down.

Gus Robertson, principal of the Irvington Grammar School, says that sometimes the youngsters come back for two or three helpings, at no extra charge. Menues are varied; the same menu is not served more than once in two weeks.

In addition to the reimbursement from the government, the Irvington School has received over $100 worth of farm produce donated by local farmers during the first three weeks of school. This, with the additional tax money that Irvington has, has made it possible to price the lunch at 10 cents.

We are glad we visited the Centerville cafeteria. With so much government money being spent, it was gratifying to discover that part of that money is being spent on our children. It's an investment in young people—the future of America.

Thinking Things Over...

By VIVIAN BATMAN

Not long ago I was walking along when a sailor across the street said, "Hi, Blondie!"

Being of a curious nature, I looked all around. Where was the blonde? He said it again, and this time there could be no mistake about it. I was the only person around. He was saying it to me!

I flashed him a brief, impersonal smile, not knowing quite what to do under the circumstances, having become rusty from lack of practice. Then I walked on.

But for the rest of the day, I was out of this world! A sailor—obviously too far away to notice the beginning of tattle-tale gray in my hair or that I was past the first flush of youth—had called me Blondie!

It took 10 years off my life—at least for that day. Thanks, sailor. But don't ever do it again! Just a little more encouragement like that and I'm apt to be throwing my money away on bobby socks and Sinatra recordings!

Bouquets to E. Dixon Bristow, Niles Grammar School principal! He has stopped marble playing on the school grounds until the rains come and allay the dust a little. Only a mother who has seen the dust fogging up from her son's trousers when he plops down on the sofa could appreciate that decree. And to think—there won't be so many knee patches, either!

On account of all the political ads filling up space, the editor tells me I'll have to stop. But before I do, let me tell you about a new heroine whose name will be on everyone's lips. Her name is Amber. Her creator is Kathleen Winsor, who wrote the book "Forever Amber." Amber is said to make Scarlett look like Sadie Milquetoast. She had four husbands. Have I said enough?

Wining and Dining

By ROBERT MAYOCK

Lorraine is one of the northern departments of France. It is like one of our own states such as Iowa or even California. Its symbol is the Cross of Lorraine which has been adopted as the symbol of the Fighting French. And now the Cross of Lorraine is again flying over France with the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack.

Mayock

It therefore seems timely to discuss what the Lorrainers will be eating now that our tanks and troops have swept on past Verdun.

Lorraine is a land of rivers and mountains and valleys. On the hillsides the vines flourish, while in the valleys they raise hogs and geese and more hogs. Lorraine bacon and Lorraine smoked hams (Jambon Fume de Lorraine) are famous wherever gourmets foregather.

Of course the district boasts of fruits and vegetables as well. Asparagus of Metz, strawberries of the Vosges mountains have a great reputation as well as the fish of the two rivers — the Meuse and the Moselle.

But let us assume that in celebrating their deliverance from the Nazis they are eating a Quiche Lorraine. It is a large tart of crisp paste filled with a mixture of eggs, cream, clotted milk, cheese, sugar and salt. It looks and tastes much like a custard pie with a cheese flavor.

Next they will have a soup. I say this with finality because all Frenchmen love soup. This soup could be a Potee of Mouton; a boiled shoulder of mutton with bacon, leeks, carrots, cabbage, peas, potatoes, celery, onions, chervil, slices of bread and cream. There's a soup after my own heart. One that will stick to your ribs and as one of our union generals once said: "A fine soup for a wet day!"

FISH

Ecrevisses a la Savigny is a typical dish contributed by the River Meuse, as fresh water crayfish are plentiful there. The crayfish are poached in a spiced court-bouillon to which white wine has been added and served with a sauce made of butter, cream, yolk of egg, parsley, challots and lemon juice.

At this point I am sure they will have a white wine such as a Traminer. The Traminer grape does well in California, too, which doubly makes us interested parties.

MME. DE POMPADOUR

This lady, the favorite of Louis XV, did more than contribute a hair-dress to posterity. Her suppers were famous throughout Europe and her cooks and chefs were drawn from all parts of France.

One was a Lorrainer and he invented Epigramme de poulet Lorraine for her. It consists of roasted breasts of pullets dressed around a timbale filled with sauted mushrooms and served with a thick sauce of beef and veal, lightly baked in the oven.

Anyone can see that it's a ravishing dish. But even a king's favorite such as Mme. Pampadour had to grow old; so I'm glad that I am in the 20th century rather than the 18th for two reasons. In the first place I'd have been dead by now and the second reason is that I prefer young pullets to old pompadours.

CHEESE AND DESSERT

Fromage le P'teux is a fresh cow-milk cheese mixed with milk, yolk of egg, worked with white wine, then cooked and potted. For dessert the Lorrainers will probably celebrate with that old favorite "Baba au Rhum" if the Americans can supply the rum. This dish was invented by no less a personage than a Duke of Lorraine who so shared the culinary aspirations of his subjects that he went out to the kitchen and brought forth this triumph of desserts himself.

So here we are, full of the good food of Lorraine and it's only a "pitch and a put" to Germany itself. However, I don't think I'll cross the border with the boys, there are too many good things to eat in France and I always like to remain in places where I'm welcome.

OPA takes action.

6. In any case where payment is to be made to the treasury, a district OPA office must approve the agreement reached by the Price Panel and the retailer before the payment is completed and the case closed.

7. Negotiation with the Price Panel on the part of the retailer is voluntary throughout. If the retailer is unwilling to agree to a voluntary settlement in place of formal court action the Price Panel will send the case to district enforcement officials for handling.

Conferences with price panel chairmen throughout the district to install hearing procedures were also begun this week, Chairman George A. Coit announced.

"In the final analysis the added powers of the local Price Panels brings the problems of protection to both the consumer and the retailer directly to the neighborhood," he said.

TWENTY YEARS AGO ...

(From the 1924 files of The Township Register)

The people in Mission San Jose were holding a three-day fair to raise funds for reshingling the old Mission, which was leaking.

At a Boy Scout Court of Honor held in Hayward, Raymond Joliff and Manuel Nunes, Centerville, were given 1st class awards.

The Coolidge-Dawes Vanguard, including Chester Rowell, held a little talk-fest at Niles.

A picture show was to be given in Centerville to raise funds for paying for hot lunches for school children during the winter.
